

Policy 2010: Specific Beliefs, Affiliations, Ideals, or Principles

I. Specific Beliefs, Affiliations, Ideals, or Principles

The School shall not:

- A. Solicit or require an employee or applicant for employment or academic admission to affirmatively ascribe to, or opine about, specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements, or ideology.
- B. Solicit or require a student to affirmatively ascribe to specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements, or ideology.
- C. Use statements of commitment to specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements, or ideology as part of the evaluation criteria for employees or applicants for employment, or employees that are seeking career progression or benefits.
- D. Use statements of commitment to specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements or ideology as part of the academic evaluation of students.

II. Prohibitions, Limitations, or Restrictions

Nothing in this policy shall be construed to prohibit, limit, or restrict any of the following:

- A. The School's authority to require a student or employee to comply with federal or state law, including anti-discrimination laws, or to take action against a student or employee for violation of federal or state law.
- B. An educator's academic freedom.
- C. An educator's ability to research or write publications about specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements, ideology, or social action.
- D. The School's authority to consider an applicant for employment's scholarship, teaching, or subject matter expertise in the applicant's given academic field.

- E. The School's authority to offer an established character education program.

III. Public Availability

The School shall make publicly available all policies, guidance, and training materials used for students, educators, and staff on all matters regarding specific beliefs, affiliations, ideals, or principles concerning political movements, or ideology. Nothing in this policy shall be construed to require the School to make protected legal communications or guidance publicly available.
